

Thirsty in Suburbia MAD LIB

10 Ways to Celebrate World Water Day!

It's World Waterpalooza time again, and we've collected 10 ideas to help you celebrate World Water Day with First-World, suburb-appropriate activities:

1. Just say _____
(exclamation) to bottled water! Try a reusable bottle made of food-safe _____
(a material)
2. Share something on your _____
(body part) book and link it to water _____
(any word).com ; ask your _____ (adjective) friends to LIKE it. (Warning: this attracts tons of spam ads for water _____ (plural noun))
- 3 Retweet anything mentioning water and _____ (noun) and add the hashtag SAVE _____
(noun)!
4. On Pinterest, post a cute water-themed _____
(noun) that you made yourself out of used _____
(plural noun).
5. Boycott _____
(a company) until they stop wasting water in the manufacture of _____
(plural noun)
6. Recycle water; use toilet water for _____
(noun) cleaning and capture rainwater in a _____
(container)
7. Have a positive outlook - Go _____
(verb) your neighbor and live like the glass is _____
(a fraction) full!
8. Fix a leak! It's easy, just _____
(verb) the leaky part with a _____
(a tool)
9. Get involved! Rally your friends to remove discarded _____
(plural noun) from your local waterways
10. Remember the 2013 theme of cooperation and acknowledge that _____
(an organization), _____
(an industry) and _____
(a country) have just as much right to the water as you do.